Hear hear! We need to do something with our arms beside target practice. We should always stay armed and open carry when we protest going forward. These commie politicians and their police state goons will back down. The left only understands the threat of violence. You must treat leftists as you would a toddler and ensure they understand punishment will befall them if they attack.

Forget the retards in the streets. Focusing on them at all is like trying to get a sliver out when your carotid artery is sliced open.

There are just over 200 Democrats in the house. There are 48 Democrats in the senate. There are 24 states with Democrat governors.

THOSE are the people selling America to the highest bidder. Behind them are the owners/cha major corporations. Those willing to sell their soul for profit working for our MSM. The RINOs.

TRUTH.

I do genuinly believe we need to use up the legal options. Yet at the same time, planning and organizing is not illegal. We need secure communications, structure, volunteers, PLANNING.

Anyone here planning for the worst is declared a "doomer" and voted off the island. It's not "doomer" to fucking plan and prepare. That's like saying all gun owners that prepared are "doomers" for not thinking everything will be perfect for all the time and it will all work itself out.

Our side has more people, guns and ammo than anything short of the US Military. But we don't have organization, structure, and planning. It's all "Wait, watch, and see". "Let's just wait and see what's in the "showers", GEOTUS has a plan"

Sure, we all have lives, jobs, families, more to lose. So that means we don't have cannon fodder like the left with ANTIFA does. That means we need safety in numbers and organization all that much more.

Just frustrated. Feels like we are so. far. behind.

Antifags have two advantages

1. They have little to lose, notice how most of them are literal junkies, drug addicts, former felons, etc (the white ones). So crime is common for them
2. The whole system supports them and the risk is very low

But also notice how every time a patriot faced them they ran like the faggots they are. It took a 17 years old kid to defeat three of them.

3 You are a fool if you think you can keep civil conflict contained to "blue areas." What will you do when antifa decides to take out a power station in Wyoming in the middle of winter and kill thousands of Republican voters with the cold.

If you are actually dumb enough to think a civil war would only be contained to certain areas then read up on the Yugoslav Wars or the Troubles. Then go outside, fall on your knees, and apologize to God for being so stupid.

When the left make their plans to steal the election they thought about our reaction and came to the s conclusion you are stating, we will not do anything.

I came to Trump from the left, I've seen all their dirty tricks and how aggressive they are, we are no match. I did get sucked in to the FAFO crap and thought the right will act eventually but it takes them some time to get moving. I was wrong, the right just demand others take action because they won't act themselves.

There is legitimate reason to be concerned about Trump. The reason for that is over the past 4 years, he's yet to really swing that bat we gave him in 2016. Knowing what (we think) we know about Trump, it's unfathomable to believe that he would walk away without putting up any more fight than he has thus far. Should that happen however, I'm inclined to believe that he may have struck some deals with D's and Rino's that would allow him, his family and business to return to their normal lives without retaliation or threat. Seems unthinkable now but we'll know soon if that happens. Should that occur, it would be seen as the biggest betrayal of the American people from any president in history.

permalink parent save report block reply

HBGel 2 months ago +7 / -0

He would deserve the result if he actually believed them and made a deal. The dems have betrayed him 100% so far on every deal.

They want the blood of him and his family, and unless he/we take corrective action, they'll get it when he does eventually leave office in 4yrs.

I have been saying for weeks that we just need to hedge our bets and I get downvoted to hell. I think we can look at the date of January 10-12 as hardline dates that Trump NEEDS to have acted. If we get past January 6th and the legal solution still hasn't come, Trump gets a few days to enact his EO or insurrection act. If he doesn't, I believe we need to operate on the assumption that he has turned coat on us and people need to make a decision about how we need to go forward without him. What that entails, I'll leave it to your imagination, but you get my drift. We need to see something by the 12th at the LATEST.

Agreed. I'm basing a lot of my views on his actions over 4 years. Many good, but a lot of it was feckless. Letting go of people like Bannon early into his term was a big flag for me. Bannon killer and he was questioning all of the BS and bureaucracy going on around them. Also cu Flynn loose instead of standing by him because of "optics."

Then this year when he allowed FauXi and Scarf to run our country into the ground. He should've never trusted these people and could've started off with based doctors and scientists. Why does he before my eyes.

Murders, thieves, arsonists, rapists, pedophiles, and frauds all run free and cause havoc without punishment or fear while innocent are trampled, and if any innocent dare stand against domestic terrorists like Antifa and BLM, our limp-dicked and oath-breaking cockholds in blue arrest people defending themselves.

I haven't been a religious person in years, but I remember plenty of rhetoric about being tested on being a good, patient, or kind person. I don't know how much patience or kindness someone is supposed to have, but I am quickly running out of both, and I feel like I'm not alone in that sentiment, which is terrifying to myself in ways I can not describe.

And if that doesn't happen? If big tech continues to clamp down on speech?

We need planning and preparation in advance.

Been thinking about this lately, the bankers wrote about setting off shore while we chew up the police and military and returning with private security forces obviously ccp. In retrospect we should have taken action the instant the riots started to avoid fighting the cops later. in other words instead of one Kyle we needed 80 million. Telegram, Ham radio? Someone better start printing and lamenting maps

And we have everything to lose. Families, jobs, kids, mortgages...

Hence the need to PLAN AND ORGANIZE.

But hey, we have memes and Pepe the Frog.

Easy to "have more balls" when every branch of the corrupted apparatus supports your actions; however, if you are a patriot fighting or attempting to maintain the constitution - you are brought to bear the full weight of the corrupt system and society.

ANTIFA has a billionaire funding their shit... We have nobody with any influence or money trying to start something.

I'm not going to go randomly stir up violence, by myself somewhere....

So we do nothing? Plan nothing? Prepare for nothing? Why are we here? Just wait and see what our lord and savior Trump does for us.

Damn straight. We have more to lose. Families, jobs, lives. All the more reason for careful organization, and as much safety in numbers as possible.

A lone man trying to make a point will be dead and held up as an example of the "right" before any such "point" can be made. But 2000 heavily armed patriots making some statement... do you think the police are going to fuck with those numbers?

In the meantime, let's make a "meme army", the chinese are scared of Winnie The Poo cartoons... that'll help.

Not attacking you personally, just worried and fucking frustrated.

Who do we point our minecraft sword toward? When? How? How many people? What time? We have no organization, no structure, no planning.

Hence the post that we have a thing or two to learn from the pussies in ANTIFA.

It is a new account.

Been on T_D from the early days, past the freeze, and through win. But I fear my government. So this Fairly new account, made without email, because I fear my fucking government.

For what it's worth I've been on TD from the early days, past the freeze, and from the beginnings of .win.

True as hell. And if you think you'll ever get another fair election again you are sadly mistaken. We have very little time.
